COMPANY, 413-17 TENTH ST. NW.
Washington City, D. C., Sept. 6, 1910.
To the Stockholders of the Washington Gas Light

Company:

Notice is hereby given that a special meeting of the stockholders of the Washington Gas Light Company for, and will be held on, FRIDAY, the four-teenth day of October, 1910, at 12 o'clock m., at the principal office of the company, No, 413 Tenth street northwest, in the City of Washington, D. C. to transact such business as may preperly come before said meeting, and especially to consider and approve or otherwise act upon the following propositions:

The stockholders of the Washington Gas Light Company in the room, said:

"I wish you could let me have a blanket and a pillow, captain."

"All right," answered Schneider, and by a stray dog while playing in front of the transact such business as may preperly come before said meeting, and especially to consider and approve or otherwise act upon the following propositions:

The chair, and then in a calm, clear voice, heard by every man in the room, said:

"I wish you could let me have a blanket and a pillow, captain."

"All right," answered Schneider, and by a stray dog while playing in front of the room, walking rapidly, as though he was anxious to escape from the sight of the men among whom he had worked.

Lewis L. Goldman, of 509 Thirteenth street northwest, reported to the police.

(1) Shall the Washington Gas Light Company con-inue its practice hitherto of declaring regular quar-terly dividends to its stockholders from its net earnterly dividends to its stockholders from its net earnings, at the rate of 10 per centum per annum upon its authorized capital of $2,600,000, which capitalization was made many years ago, and does not now adequately represent the fair value of the property of the company used by it for the benefit of the public under the provisions of the company's charter, and its further practice of declaing extra dividends from its undivided profits; or shall it in future distribute among its stockholders, in the proportions to which they are respectively entitled, the net annual earnings of the company after deducting from its gross earnings all proper expenses of administration and of the conduct of its business and the sums necessary to pay interest upon its bonds and certificates of indebtedness, together with an amount sufficient to cover depreciation, in dividends to an amount approximating 5 per centum upon amount sufficient to cover depreciation, in dividends to an amount approximating 6 per centum upon the fair value of the property used by the said company for the benefit of the public in supplying gas under its charter, assuming that the said net earnings shall be sufficient to justify said dividends?

(2) Shall the moneys needed annually for extensions of the company's mains and other expenses senerally classed as "betterments" be paid out of the earnings of the company, or shall such moneys because the about issue or issues secured by deed of trust upon all of the company's property which it is entitled to embrace in such deed of trust, said bonds to be sold for not less than par, and the proceeds thereof to be applied excussively to said betterments?

office, quiet with the stillness of death, it seemed, were former Inspector of Police Swindles, Capt. Schneider, Detective Evans, Policeman Lipscomb, Precinct Detective McGill Grove, and several newspaper men. The door opened and Baston, his head downward and his eyes on the floor, entered. His face was flushed and his eyes bloodshot. He wore blue pants, a blue shirt, with no collar, and was in his stocking feet. Without looking up at the men about him, Baston seated himself in a chair.

Silence at Station.

Fully a minute elapsed before the si ence was broken, every eye fixed on the owed figure, whose only movement was that of his chest, rising and falling rapidy as though he was breathing with diffleulty. He kept his eyes closed and did not stir. Finally, Capt. Schneider said: "Do you wish to make a statement,

Baston? You know the law.' There was another interval of silence and then Detective Evans spoke. He said This is not only embarrassing but painful to both of us Baston, and if you intend to say nothing I wish you would Unidentified Body Removed to District Morgue.

The body of an unidentified man about thirty years old was found floating in the Potomac River near the foot of Twenty-third street northwest yesterday by George Stockton, of 500 B street southeast. The body was removed to the morgue by the harbor patrol boat.

It was thought the body was that of Charles Marbury, a plasterer, living at 3015 M street northwest. When John Marbury, a brother, viewed the body at the morgue, he said it was not that of his brother. Charles Marbury has been missing from his home for some time.

BOND DESIGNS APPROVED.

Postal Savings Security to Be Smallest Size Ever Issued.

The Treasury Department has finally approved a design for the new $20 postal savings bonds, and the result is the smallest bond ever issued by the government. The design is simple as to type, ornamental features, and the border. The twenty-year postal savings bond, including the forty semi-annual interest ccupons, is no larger than the ordinary registered bond of the United States and not much larger than the ordinary greenback or national bank note. It is shaped to be easily adaptable to fit in the ordinary safe deposit box without
